Aviation Resources is a small business operating at the Cumberland Municipal Airport. What started as a mom and pop shop back in 1999 has expanded to 10 employees currently. We provide aircraft inspection and maintenance, specializing on the Cirrus aircraft. Customers come from across the US for our services. We also develop and manufacture products and tools specifically for the Cirrus aircraft. We use many local suppliers for the manufacture of our products, including Island City Tool in Cumberland, Ayerstech in Chetek, L'Cars in Cameron, and Badger Steel in Rice Lake, as well as Johnson Agen Kupferschmidt for tax/accounting services. We also take our clients out to eat at local establishments, and they utilize local lodging and shopping as well. The demand for our services continues to grow, so we have plans to add staff.

Q10. What is the plan for using the grant money (How will it be used)?

Because we are growing, we need to update our computer systems and automate processes to increase efficiency. Our computer systems are getting old and there is new technology that would help us optimize work flow. So if we win the grant, we would upgrade computer hardware and software, aiding all of our employees to do their jobs more efficiently and effectively.

Q11. Projected benefit of plan execution (e.g. viability of business, growth/expansion of business, impact on the community, etc...)

As we are able to grow the business, there is a trickle effect in so many directions. We want to provide more skilled jobs in our community and need to provide the necessary tools to do their jobs well and enjoy their employment with our company. By improving our efficiency, we provide our clients with better service. Increased business leads to more local dining and shopping. And our local suppliers also benefit from additional manufacturing work as well.
